DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 11 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification and the drawings do not show the holding chamber (35) as comprising: at one of injection nozzle, an electronic valve, a mechanical valve or a pump for providing the desired predefined volume of the nitrogen-enriched air to the combustion chamber.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1,2,5-8,11-15, and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Poola et al (5,649,517).

Art Unit: 3747

Poola et al discloses a method for the operation of an internal combustion engine comprising the steps of: providing oxygen-enriched air and fuel to a combustion chamber; initiating combustion of the oxygen-enriched air and fuel; and providing a predefined volume (col. 10, ll. 64) of nitrogen-enriched air to the combustion chamber after a predefined time delay (after initial periods of start-up and warm-up, col. 10, ll. 20; "few minutes" in col. 6, ll. 38) to be used during the remainder of the combustion.

With regard to claim 2, prior to the step of providing oxygen-enriched air and fuel to a combustion chamber: providing an input air stream (46a) to a membrane (18); and separating, using the membrane, an input air stream to produce the oxygen-enriched air and the nitrogen-enriched air.

With regard to claim 5, the internal combustion engine comprises: a diesel engine, col. 5, and ll. 21.

With regard to claim 6, the internal combustion engine comprises: a gasoline engine, col. 5, and ll. 24.

With regard to claim 7, Poola et al discloses an apparatus comprising: a separation device (18) for receiving an input air stream (46a) and producing oxygen-enriched air (50a) and nitrogen-enriched air (52b); a holding chamber (22) for receiving the nitrogen-enriched air from said separation device (18); and a combustion chamber (10) for receiving the oxygen-enriched air from said separation device and a combustible fuel, the combustion chamber initiating a combustion process using the oxygen-enriched air and the combustible fuel, and further receiving a predefined volume of the nitrogen-enriched air from the holding chamber after a predefined time delay to be used during the remainder of the combustion process.

With regard to claims 8, the device comprises a membrane, see membrane device in abstract.

With regard to claims 11, assumed the holding chamber to mean the air supply control system. Hence, one of the injection nozzle (not shown but inherently and necessarily present), the pump (28) and the mechanical valves (34,36,38) are used to deliver the desired nitrogen-enriched air.

With regard to claims 12-15 and 18-20, all the claimed subject matters are cited in the above rejections.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3,4,9,10,16 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited references show separation devices.
